

To the FCC:
It seems that in a Democracy such as ours, we have a right to expect
balanced media coverage of the facts. How different are we from Communist nations, really, if media decisions are made for political reasons?

If Sinclair Broadcasting is successful in forcing its stations
to air the anti-Kerry
documentary "Stolen Honor" days before
the election,
without balancing it
with an airing of,
say, "Fahrenheit 9/11," how can we ever trust anything
on the public
airwaves in this country?

Isn't Sinclair
supposed to serve
the public interest?
I keep thinking of
George Orwell's, 1984. "Freedom is Slavery." Is that what we've come to?
Is that the way for a President to keep his seat, by manipulating the viewing public?

Please step in here
and do the right thing. Demand
balanced coverage,
or none at all.
Don't let corporate America decide this election by withholding information, or worse, presenting slandorous, negative information. Let the people decide on the merits of the campaign, not on the politics of it.

Thank you.
